

Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example that you should follow in his footsteps.

1 PETER 2:21

Saved by Love, Not by Suffering

FR. JOSEPH JUKNIALIS

I’m not sure there is any value in suffering in and of itself. Nor do I think God wants us to suffer. That would make him sadistic. Nor is it, then, Jesus’ suffering and death that saves us, but rather his love even to the point of suffering and death that saves us. It is his love that reveals the greatness of God’s love for us that is so unbelievable. The basis of our faith is Jesus’ trust in God, who would bring about life even through death. We also hear the wisdom of St. Peter today: “...If you are patient when you suffer for doing what is good, this is a grace before God” (1 Peter 2:20). Such is the shepherd’s voice that teaches us and leads us.

Does anyone ever choose to suffer for doing what is good? Yes. Every day. Spouses become caregivers for husbands or wives robbed of their memories. Each day people go to jobs that are pure drudgery, and they do so because they love their families. Some choose to live simply, to be countercultural in a consumer society. Others help their community by living in neighborhoods many avoid. Some parents willingly postpone a career in order to be present to their growing family. Teachers often go beyond expectations for students who need extra help. It is never the suffering of these people that captures and reflects the image of Jesus, but the love even to the point of suffering. ●

Reflect

When are you patient in suffering for the sake of doing good?

Who has done the same for you?
